Issuer	SMK Transmission	Issue Date	11 September 2026
Product Scope	Applicable SMK Transmission products/models	Status	Company Statement

1. Declaration

SMK Transmission states that RoHS compliance information can be provided for applicable products and components based on available material, component, supplier and/or test documentation.

2. Scope

This declaration applies only to product models and configurations specifically confirmed by SMK Transmission. It should not be interpreted as a blanket declaration covering every product, accessory, coating, cable, lubricant or optional component.

3. Restricted Substances

For products confirmed as RoHS compliant, the relevant restricted-substance requirements are assessed against the applicable version of the European Union RoHS framework and its amendments. Product-specific evidence should be retained to support any formal compliance claim.

4. Customer Requests

For project or customs documentation, please provide the exact product model, quantity, electrical specification and destination market. SMK Transmission will confirm whether supporting RoHS documentation is available for that product.

Important Notice

This is a manufacturer/supplier compliance statement template, not a third-party RoHS certificate or laboratory test report. Formal claims should be supported by current product-specific supplier declarations, material records and/or test reports.
